Basner, N. H. Wilson's disease: a rare genetic disorder, 8:144
Beckford, A. R., and Teter, A. A study of three patients with "Y" shunts, 9:128
Behrends, E. Superficial temporal artery anastomosis to the middle cerebral artery (STA-MCA), 8:113
Bell, M. Editorial, 8:1, 9:x, 9:137
Bell, M., and Rekate, H. The use of ventriculostomy in the neurosurgical patient, 9:150
Bond, D., and Young, R. Electrophrenic respiration in a patient with sleep-induced apnea, 9:118
Butterworth, G. A. Interfascicular autologous nerve grafts in the microsurgical repair of peripheral nerves, 9:63

Calvin, R. P. Continuous ventricular or lumbar subarachnoid drainage of cerebrospinal fluid, 9:12
Quiz
on computerized axial tomography, 9:162
on dexamethasone and dexamethasone sodium phosphate, 9:41
on neuroradiology, 8:174
on seizure disorders and electroencephalography, 9:90
Carney, A. Doctor Wilder Penfield—the man the M.N.H. nurses remember, 8:169
Coleman, P. The problem of spasticity in the management of the spinal cord-injured patient and its treatment with special reference to percutaneous radiofrequency thermal selective sensory rhizotomy, 8:97

Dunbar, N. Percutaneous stimulation in the treatment of acute and chronic pain, 8:105

Edmonds, V. E., Tator, C. H., and Sandler, A. N. The role of laboratory research in the clinical treatment of acute spinal cord injuries, 8:18
Ewy, V., and Minckley, B. The anesthesiologist's view of elective craniotomy, 9:58

Finneson, B. E. Nonsurgical treatment of low back pain, 9:54
Fiore, M. A. The nurse practitioner, 9:106

Goloskov, J. W., and LeRoy, P. L. A new method for managing extracellular fluid accumulations in central nervous system disorders, 8:53
Gonzalez, D. E. Receptive-expressive aphasia—does it really exist?, 9:122

Hall, P. V. See Hight, B., 8:28
Hanlon, K. Intracranial compliance interpretation and clinical application, 9:34
Hausman, K. A. Head injuries in children, 9:95
Hight, B., Redelman, K., and Hall, P. V. Myelodysplasia: progressive paraplegia and scoliosis, 8:28
Hoffman, J. J. Arterial blood gas analysis as a basic criterion for the management of the neurosurgical patient, 9:29
Hubbard, J. H. See Wille, R. L., 9:99

Irvin, N. J. See Mitchell, P. H., 9:23
Isaacs, N. M. The surgical treatment of epilepsy, 8:155

Jacobs, G. B. Keynote address—American Association of Neurosurgical Nurses—April, 1976, 8:2
See Wille, R., 8:11, 9:99

Kolb, D. Understanding aphasia and the aphasiac, 9:15

Larsen, G. L. Rehabilitating dysphagia: mechanica, paralytica, pseudobulbar, 8:14
LeRoy, P. L. See Goloskov, J. W., 8:53

Madeja, C. Computerized tomography; an introduction, 9:87
Postoperative infections on a neurosurgical service, 9:84
Manuel, S., and Nolt, S. Cerebral arteriovenous malformations and the role of embolization in treatment, 9:152
McDonald, L. Carotid cavernous sinus fistula, 8:23
Temporal lobe epilepsy, 8:89
McGibbon, P. M. Keynote address—annual meeting of the AANN, 9:124
Minckley, B. See Ewy, V., 9:58
Mitchell, P. H., and Irvin, N. J. Neurological examination: nursing assessment for nursing purposes, 9:23
Murphy, M., and Roglitz, C. Preoperative teaching, integration of nursing and social work services, 9:5

Nevins, S. K. Pre- and postoperative care of patients undergoing transsphenoidal pituitary surgery, 8:45
Nolt, S. See Manuel, S., 9:152

Parkinson, J. The spinal cord-injured patient; autonomic hyperreflexia, 9:1

Rauch, P. A. Presidential address, 9:51

Redelman, K. See Hight, B., 8:28
Rekate, H. See Bell, M., 9:150
Revta, R. Nursing presentation of a patient with pseudotumor cerebri, 9:147
Ricci, M. M. Water and electrolyte metabolism in patients with intracranial lesions, 9:165
Roglitz, C. See Murphy, M., 9:5
Rosenburgh, S. P. Pain—theories and treatment by cutaneous afferent stimulation, 8:80
Rubin, R. C. See Jacobs, G. B., 8:149
See Wille, R., 8:11, 9:99

Sandler, A. N. See Edmonds, V. E., 8:18
Sawitzke, S., and Teter, A. Arteriovenous malformations of the brain; general review including role of embolization, 8:132
Schutz, H. See Taylor, F. A., 9:144
Sell, S. C., The corpus callosum, its role in memory: a presentation of a patient with andarteriovenous malformation of the corpus callosum, 9:141
The treatment of tic douloureux by vascular decompression of the trigeminal nerve, 9:19

Tator, C. H. See Edmonds, V. E. 8:18
Taylor, D. A. Techniques for the intraoperative reduction of intracranial volume, 8:85
Taylor, F. A. Symptoms caused by intracranial pressure waves, 9:144
Teter, A. See Beckford, A. R., 9:128
See Sawitzke, S., 8:132

Young, J. F. How the brain recognizes and responds to shock, 8:37
Young, R. See bond, D., 9:118

Anastomosis, superficial temporal artery to middle cerebral artery, 8:113
Aneurysms, intracranial, treatment of, 8:149
Aphasia
  receptive-expressive, 9:122
  understanding of, 9:15
Apnea, sleep-induced, electrophrenic respiration in, 9:118
Arterial blood gas analysis in neurosurgical patient, 9:29

Brain and skull, anatomy of, 9:99
  arteriovenous malformations of, 8:132
By-laws, AANN, 8:58

Carotid cavernous sinus fistula, 8:23
Central nervous system disorders, managing extracellular fluid accumulations in, 8:53
Cerebellum, and anatomical review, 9:71
Cerebral arteriovenous malformations, treatment of, 9:000
Cerebrospinal fluid, drainage of, 9:12
Cervical spine injuries, treatment and nursing care of, 9:138
Corpus callosum, arteriovenous malformation of, 9:141
Craniotomy, anesthesiologist's view of, 9:58

Dysphagia, rehabilitating, 8:14

Editorial, Mercedes Bell, 8:1, 9:x, 9:137
Embolization
  in treatment of cerebral arteriovenous malformations, 9:152 role in arteriovenous malformations of the brain, 8:132 Epilepsy
  surgical treatment of, 8:155
  temporal lobe, 8:89

Fistula, carotid cavernous sinus, 8:23
Fluid accumulations, extracellular, in central nervous system disorders, 8:53
From the Editor's desk, 9:133, 9:137

Guest editorial, Rosanne Wille, 8:77

Head injuries in children, 9:95
Hospital, community, emergency care of neurosurgical patient in, 8:11

Infections, postoperative, in neurosurgery, 9:84
Inpatient neurosurgical unit, innovations by nursing staff of, 9:111
Intracranial lesions, water and electrolyte metabolism associated with, 9:165
Intracranial pressure monitoring, 9:34
Intracranial pressure waves, symptoms caused by, 9:144
Intracranial volume, techniques for reduction of, 8:85
Intraoperative reduction of intracranial volume, 8:85

Keynote address, AANN
  George B. Jacobs, 8:2
  Pauline M. McGibbon, 9:124

Membership roster, 1976, AANN, 8:66
Multiple sclerosis
  transcutaneous electrical stimulation in, 8:125
Myelodysplasia, 8:28

Neurological examination, nursing assessment, 9:23
Neurosurgical patient arterial blood gas analysis in management of, 9:29
  emergency care of, 8:11
  pulmonary complications in, 9:102 use of ventriculostomy in, 9:150
Nurse practitioner, 9:106
Nursing and social work services, integration of, 9:5

Obituary, Dr. Wilder Penfield, 169

Pain
  low back, nonsurgical treatment of, 9:54
  percutaneous stimulation in treatment of, 8:105 treatment by cutaneous afferent stimulation, 8:80
Paraplegia, progressive, and scoliosis, 8:28
Peripheral nerves, microsurgical repair of, 9:63
Presidential address
  Patricia A. Rauch, 9:51
  Rosanne Wille, 8:9
Pseudotumor cerebri
  nursing care of patient with, 9:147
Pulmonary complications in neurosurgical patients, 9:102

Quiz
  on computerized axial tomography, 9:162
  on dexamethasone and dexamethasone sodium phosphate, 9:41
  on neuroradiology, 8:174
  on seizure disorders and electroencephalography, 9:90

Reticular formation, an anatomical review, 9:157
Rhizotomy in treatment of spinal cord injuries, 8:97

Scoliosis and progressive paraplegia, 8:28
Shock, recognition and response of brain to, 8:37
Sleep-induced apnea, electrophrenic respiration in, 9:118
Social work services and nursing, integration of, 9:5
Spinal cord injuries
  autonomic hyperreflexia in, 9:1
  role of laboratory research in treatment of, 8:18 treatment with percutaneous radiofrequency thermal selective sensory rhizotomy, 8:97
Spinal cord, percutaneous stimulation of, 9:67
Stimulation, percutaneous, in treatment of pain, 8:105
Surgery
  neurological, nurse's role in, 8:77
  transsphenoidal pituitary, 8:45

Tic douloureux, treatment of, 9:19
Tomography, computerized, 9:87
Transsphenoidal pituitary surgery, 8:45
Trigeminal neuralgia, nursing implications in, 9:78

Wilson's disease, 8:144

"Y" shunts, a study of 3 patients with, 9:128
